Anne,

Those are production documents, not documents we or our expert created, and the titles of the columns we cite are self-explanatory. I'm not aware of a 'key' or other coding sheet in the production, but also have not performed an exhaustive search for one, which you could perform as well as we could.

If I misunderstand your question, let me know.

Regards,

Wes

Wes,

We have reviewed the production for document code mapping sheets that pertain to Defendants' Exhibits 15-20 and have not been able to locate a sheet (or document) that explains or gives a definition for all of the responses in each column of the exhibits. Does such a document exist and if so, would you send it to me or identify the bates number?

Thanks, Anne
